Banding Film

Banding film, also known as bundling film, is a plastic wrap designed to secure lighter pallet loads or stabilize shipments before applying full stretch film. Challenger® brand banding film is available in three standard widths—two, three, and five inches. This easy-to-use option delivers reliable tension and load security without requiring excessive force during application.

Much like wrapping a sandwich in plastic wrap to keep it intact, banding film holds lighter pallet loads or shipments together, shielding them from dust, moisture, and other external factors. The result is improved product stability and protection, ensuring your goods arrive in excellent condition.
